Drug-induced Diseases Lecture Evaluations
Competency	5	4	3	2	1	N/A
Objectives	19	9
Content	18	10
Organization	18	10
Delivery	16	8	4
Teaching Skills	15	12	1
Professionalism	21	7
Handout	17	5	1			5
Audiovisuals	17	5	1			5
Strengths:	Inclusion of background material, good slide lay out, good examples and added information, good presentation skills, well designed slides, interesting case, excellent communication with students, good student engagement, very passionate makes it more engaging, seemed very knowledgeable on topics, good examples and added information, expert on subject, passion made learning more engaging, very enthusiastic, expanded on slide information, engaged audience throughout presentation, tied together similar concepts, well organized, interactive and friendly, easy to listen to, knowledgeable and confident, relatable examples, nice use of clinical pearls
Improvements:	Talk less quickly, don't give away answers to the cases, call on students when they don't give answers, more background on unfamiliar topics, occasionally getting off topic, more case examples during lecture portion, incorporate treatment options and risk factors in to patient cases, more questions on cases, longer cases, better placement of microphone, be more confident in materials and preparedness, more focus on treatment plan, move out from behind the podium more					